To the President of the United States:

SIR-Having held courts for many years at Sycamore. DeKalb county, Illinois, I was acquainted with Mr. Bruce C. Payne and his family relatives for a long time, and I take pleasure in saying that he was a young man of good character and social standing. His family is one of the most respectable in the county, and all of them loyal and true to the Government. I was much surprised to learn that Licutenant Payne had been convicted of an offense, as he has always stood above reproach, and I can but think there must be circumstances of mitigation. The petition which his brother has just shown me for his pardon is signed by the most prominent men of DeKalb county, and, I doubt not, reflects the wishes of the entire community there. I add my cordial and urgent request that your Excellency will grant Mr. Payne an unconditional pardon. forces. Whatever its causes (and they are innumerable), its symptoms are in the main the same. We could add numerous other letters equally as emphatic, but it is unnecessary. After reading the foregoing, every unprejudiced mind must admit that Lieut. Payne has suffered unjustly. His honor is above reproach, and had time been given him to have proper witnesses present, not a single charge would have been sustained. Major Tompkins, who is chiefly responsible for the wrong, is a man of violent passion, bitter prejudices, and, we understand, was forced to resign to prevent being dishonorably dismissed from it, among them the "giroffa," which is said to surpass in beauty "the most brilliant productions of Tyre or Persia,"

We have devoted this much space to the case for the simple reason that though the foul breath of slander may easily tarnish a fair name, nothing but the logic of truth can restore it to its original brightness and good standing.

As the findings and sentence of the PETROLEUM - KENTUCKY VS. PENNSYLVANIA.

Synopsis of a Report made to the Union County Petroleum, Coal and fron Co., of Louisville, Ky.

GENTLEMEN: In compliance with you wishes, I have made a tour through the oil-producing regions of Pennsylvania Ohio, Western Virginia, and Eastern Kentucky, and present the following brief detail of facts which were gathered from actual observation during the jour

The main object of the mission was to nstitute a comparison between the geo logical formations of territory now being successfully developed for oil, and the Company's lands on Highland Creek, 1865; Kentucky, on which you propose to make immediate explorations. The results of these investigations I regard as highly favorable to the Company's interests. In Western Virginia, several varieties of metallic ores, coal and sarieties of metallic ores, coal and saline, sulphur, chalybeate and warm springs abound in the oil territory. The valley of the Kanawha is rich in bituminous, splint and cannel coal. Some of the hills bordering the valley contain as much as half a dozen seams, varying from two to ten feet in thickness. Besides these, there are veins of iron ore of unusual purity, outeronping in the hills. The geological features of the oil disas elsewhere, it is an established fact that when borings are made to a sufficient depth, in the line of the break, or "fault," oil has been invariably found. Sometimes the amount obtained is insignificant; at other times, it is vielded in such quantity as to enrich all who are interested. All the features possessed by the Western Virginia oil lands are common to the valley of Highland creek, in Union county, Ky., where your lands are located. You have the coal, the metallic ores, the saline springs, the tar springs, and the same violent disruptions of the strata. You have the overlying seams of impervious fire clay, the underlying, coarse sandstone, a much larger deposit of oil-producing shales, and the same surface indications, which originally invited research and enterprise to this region.

Great varieties of soil, and in the growth of timber, prevail in the oil-fields of the several States; but a marked similarity exists in the underlying formations of the identity in one especial feature. They have all undergone marked disruptions of the measures, the value of the section seeming to be proportioned to the violence of the internal disturbance.

It is not often easy to ascertain the structure, or the relative positions, of the various strata. In many places which I have examined, the wildest disorder prevals in the formations. They have been crushed, overturned, fractured and thrown up by such violent convulsions that the student is often confounded, not only in his efforts to trace the measures from

ASTROLOGY. has arrived, and can be consulted on the past, pres ent and future. She will give entire satisfaction of all the concerns of life, such as law-suits, love af-fairs, marriages, journeys and all business transactions. All who have been unsuccessful and unfor-tunate in this life should consult her. She will bring success to all who have been deceived by loved ones; she will make up quarrels of every de scription, and place them in their former Eden; she will make you happy, when all others fail; and she will honestly and frankly tell you what is best for you to do. This will save you time and money, and keep your mind content. In love affairs she never. fails. She has the secret of winning the love and adoration of the opposite sex. She will guide the single to a happy marriage and make the married happy; she will tell of absent friends, whether they are living or dead, or if they are in the war or not, or on the sea, or on the land, or if they will ever come home, when and how; she will bring news from friends, no matter where they are, and make delinquents answer letters; she is a sure depend ance; she is a perfect lady, and practices nothing that is not reconcilable to philosophers. A single visit is sufficient to convince the most fastidious. Come, then, all who are in trouble. She has a word of sympathy for you, and will pledge herself to do her very best for you. She will describe the character of your future or present husband or wife. If you have tried others, do not despair. There is luck and happiness yet for you. Come, and try the Madam, and send all your friends. In short, she can do all that others do, and much more. She is the seventh daughter of the seventh daughter, and the seventh daughter of the seventh daughter, and was born with three valls over her face. The poor sick have her warmest sympathy. All who are suffering with asthma, scrothla, dysepsia, pain in the side, rheumatism, sore eyes or ears, or pain in any part of the body, all chrouic diseases, no matter what their names are; she can positively cure all chronic diseases. WETAKE PLEASURE IN ANNOUNCING TO the Undertakers of Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana, that in addition to our agency for the sale of I. C. With our present arrangements we can make it to the Interest of Undertakers to purchase the Metallic Cases from us. We are the only house in the United States which can furnish the trade with the goods of both these celebrated manufacturers at such low prices. we hardly deem it necessary, at this day, to note the superiority of the Metallic Cases over an wooden box that can be made in imitation of the in which the remains are floating in water after first rain falls after interment, often for months a symptoms.

The symptoms of Catarrh are at first very slight. Persons find they have a cold, that they have frequent attacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of temperature. In this condition the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge, thin and acrid, afterwards thick and adhesive may ensue.

As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and are hawked or coughed off. The secretions are offensive, caussing a bad breath; the voice thick and masal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell is lessened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place.

Another common and important symptom of catarrh is, that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morning of a thick or slimy mucus, which has fallen from the head during the night. When this takes place the person may be sure that disease is on its way to the lungs, and should lose no time in arresting it.

The above are but few of the many Catarrh sympme in arresting it.
